

Cultural Values and the Future of Intercultural Collaboration

Cultural diversity is sometimes seen as a problem to be dealt with. A wiser approach is to appreciate the diversity of languages, behavior, and cultural values as an asset and a resource to draw upon. What are some of the key cultural values that influence how we think and act, and how can we learn to better appreciate and collaborate with people who are influenced by alternative cultural values in our increasingly interdependent world? Those are questions that we will consider in this interactive presentation.

日時： 6 月 3 日 (月) 11:00 ~ 12:30

会場： 3-202 教室

使用言語：英語

司会：榎本 智子 先生

(国際コミュニケーション学科 准教授・当研究所 副所長)

Speaker: Dr. John Condon

(Regents' Professor at the University of New Mexico)

John Condon, Regents' Professor of Communication, University of New Mexico (USA) is a pioneer in the field of intercultural communication. An award-winning educator, his writings, including the first university textbook on the subject, and some of the first intercultural communication books in Japan, have been published in seven languages.

事前申込受付中!
(先着順)

主催・申込先：グローバル・コミュニケーション研究所

※ 参加希望者は、グローバル・コミュニケーション研究所 まで E-mail
(アドレス: gci@kanda.kuis.ac.jp / 件名: 0603 Dr. Condon 講演会) でお申し込みください。
参加希望者多数の場合は先着順での受付とさせて頂き、受付を締め切らせて頂く場合があります。